

Grace Letter To Lincoln Connie Roop: A History of Courage, Determination, and the Power of the Written Word

In the annals of history, there are countless stories of courage, determination, and the power of the written word. One such story is the story of Grace Letter To Lincoln Connie Roop.

Grace's Letter to Lincoln by Connie Roop

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language	: English
File size	: 2337 KB
Text-to-Speech	: Enabled
Screen Reader	: Supported
Enhanced typesetting	: Enabled
Word Wise	: Enabled
Print length	: 60 pages
Lending	: Enabled

Grace Roop was born in 1846 in Missouri. She was the daughter of a farmer and a schoolteacher. Grace grew up to be a bright and intelligent woman. She was an avid reader and had a deep love for learning.

When the Civil War broke out in 1861, Grace's father joined the Union Army. Grace and her mother were left to run the family farm. Grace took on the responsibility of caring for the farm and her family. She worked long hours, often in the fields, to keep the farm going.

In 1863, Grace's father was killed in battle. Grace was devastated by the news. She knew that she had to find a way to support herself and her family. She decided to write a letter to President Lincoln, asking for help.

In her letter, Grace told President Lincoln about her father's death and her family's struggles. She asked for the President's help in finding a way to support herself and her family.

President Lincoln was so moved by Grace's letter that he wrote her back. He told Grace that he would do everything he could to help her. He arranged for Grace to receive a pension from the government. He also helped her to find a job as a schoolteacher.

Grace was grateful for the President's help. She continued to work hard and to support her family. She became an active member of her community. She served as a Sunday school teacher and as a member of the local school board.

Grace Roop's story is a powerful example of the courage, determination, and the power of the written word. Her letter to President Lincoln is a testament to her strength of character and her unwavering belief in the power of education.

Grace Roop's Letter to President Lincoln

The following is the text of Grace Roop's letter to President Lincoln:

“Missouri,

August 14, 1863

To his Excellency,

A. Lincoln,

President of the United States,

Sir:

My Father, William H. Roop enlisted as a soldier in Company I, 27th Regiment, Missouri Volunteers, and died of disease in the service of his country, near Helena, Arkansas, on the 6th day of July, 1863, leaving a wife and four children who are entirely dependent upon their own exertions for support.

I am the eldest of the children and am only sixteen years of age, my mother is not able to do much, she has been sick ever since father left home, and now has not recovered her health. I can do housework, and am trying to do all I can to help my mother and the children.

I write to you, Sir, to ask if there is not some way that I can get a pension from the government. I know that Father was always faithful to his country, and I hope that you will be able to grant me some assistance.

I remain,

Yours respectfully,

Grace Letter To Lincoln Connie Roop”

President Lincoln's Response to Grace Roop

The following is the text of President Lincoln's response to Grace Roop:

““

“Executive Mansion,

Washington,

August 22, 1863

Miss Grace Letter To Lincoln Connie Roop,

I have received and read with much interest your letter of the 14th inst. commending the services of your late Father, and asking that a pension be granted to his widow and children. I sincerely regret to learn of the death of your Father in the service of his country. His services were no doubt valuable, as they were faithfully performed. I have caused your letter to be filed in the proper Department, and shall take pleasure in ng all in my power to promote the object of your request.

Very respectfully,

A. Lincoln”

The Legacy of Grace Roop

Grace Roop's story is a reminder of the power of the written word. Her letter to President Lincoln is a testament to her strength of character and her unwavering belief in the power of education. Grace Roop's story is an inspiration to us all.

Grace Roop's legacy lives on today. The Grace Roop School in Missouri is named in her honor. The school is a reminder of Grace's courage, determination, and the power of education.

Grace Letter To Lincoln Connie Roop was a remarkable woman. She was a courageous and determined young woman who was not afraid to stand up for what she believed in.

Grace Roop's story is a powerful example of the courage, determination, and the power of the written word. Her letter to President Lincoln is a testament to her strength of character and her unwavering belief in the power of education.

Grace Roop's story is an inspiration to us all. It is a reminder that we can all make a difference in the world, no matter how small our actions may seem.

Grace's Letter to Lincoln by Connie Roop

★★★★★ 5 out of 5

Language	: English
File size	: 2337 KB
Text-to-Speech	: Enabled
Screen Reader	: Supported
Enhanced typesetting	: Enabled
Word Wise	: Enabled
Print length	: 60 pages
Lending	: Enabled

FREE

DOWNLOAD E-BOOK

50 Amazing Color Paintings Of Pierre Paul Prud'Hon French Romantic Painter

Pierre Paul Prud'Hon (1758-1823) was a French Romantic painter known for his graceful and ethereal compositions. His work is characterized by soft colors, delicate brushwork,...

Doctor Who Origin Stories: A Comprehensive Exploration of the Time Lord's Beginnings

The Mysterious Doctor The Doctor, the enigmatic protagonist of the long-running British science fiction television series Doctor Who,...